We have experienced rapid growth in technological achievements over the past century, but this does not mean that we are smarter today than our great grandparents. The innovations enjoyed today were built upon the shoulders of our predecessors.

Hymn 377 - Bro Joseph Bland 1850-1916

1

In the bud of early Spring-time
In the days of early youth,
When the heart is fresh and tender,
Lord impress us with thy Truth.
Teach us how to shun the evil.
Teach us how to love the Right;
Ere the days of evil sadden,
Lead, oh lead us in the Light.

2

In the days of Summer help us
To devote our strength to Thee;
May the fruit we bear be precious,
Yielded gratefully and free.
Fruits of Holiness, refreshing
Strengthening others in the strife
Fruit that proves to all a blessing
Leading on to endless life

3

In the days of Autumn may there
Be rich sheaves of golden grain
Plenteous stores of wisdom garnered
Thoughts divine that cause no pain
Rich experience of Thy mercy,
Large remembrance of Thy love.
Grant O God, that in the Autumn
We may all they goodness prove

4

And when Winter comes - oft dreary
Seeming far away from Spring,
When health fails & men grow weary
Yet may we be glad and sing
Glad because of coming Glory
When forever troubles cease;
For we know the blessed story
That there shall be endless peace
